

BUILDSTORE BUILDLOAN

We are delighted to announce dates and venues for our next five self build seminars. These are detailed in the table below.

Each session will commence with tea and coffee and will be followed by a presentation and of course you will have the chance to ask the experts any questions you may have.

And remember the seminars can go towards your continuing professional development programme and a certificate showing that you attended training on self build mortgages will be provided on the day.

If you are interested in attending one of these seminars, please send an email to intermediaryseminar@buildstore.co.uk with your full contact details and the seminar you wish to attend.
